

Models of Child Health Appraised

(A Study of Primary Healthcare in 30 European countries)

Modelling Levels of Collaboration Among Health and Social Care Professionals in the Management of a Mental Health Plan

Authors

Daniela Luzi, Fabrizio Pecoraro, Oscar Tamburis

Pages

516 - 520

DOI

10.3233/978-1-61499-852-5-516

Series

Studies in Health Technology and Informatics

Ebook

Volume 247: Building Continents of Knowledge in Oceans of Data: The Future of Co-Created eHealth

Abstract

Professional collaboration among health and social care providers is considered an essential pattern to improve the integration of care. This is particularly important considering the planning activities for children with complex conditions. In this paper the level of collaboration among professionals in the development and implementation of the personalized plan in the mental health domain is analysed across 30 EU/EEA countries within the MOCHA project.

DOWNLOAD

<http://ebooks.iospress.nl/publication/48845>

